"Crucifixion", an impressive sculpture by Bruno Groth of Thorn, now dominates the main corridor of the Sacred Heart Catholic school in Eureka. The nine-foot ebony piece of religious art has been donated to the school by its creator. It was designed with 500 pieces of alder wood, according to Sister St. Stephen, principal.