ELK RIVER

(Continued From Page 13)

Homer Durand lumber company, and Harry and George Pickering also logged in the vicinity. The old darned rock may be found on the north bank of the river, and the river bed is still marked by the old log jam that formed on the north side of the river.

To the south, the river bed is marked by the old lumber mill and the old sawmill. The old sawmill was located on the north side of the river, near the old lumber mill.

It is the old lumber mill that stands today as a reminder of the old days. The mill was built in the early 1800s, and it was operated by the old lumber company. It was later purchased by the old sawmill company, and it was operated by them until the early 1900s. The mill was dismantled and the lumber was sold.

The sawmill is a reminder of the old days, and it is a reminder of the old lumber company. It is a reminder of the old days when the river was full of logs and the old mill was full of lumber.

HOMER DURAND

(Continued From Page 1)

Homer Durand lumber company, which was one of the first lumber companies in the area, was located on the west side of the river. The company was founded in 1880, and it was operated by Homer Durand, who was a lumberman and a politician.

Homer Durand was a man of many talents, and he was a man of many interests. He was a lumberman, a politician, a lawyer, and a writer. He was a man of many talents, and he was a man of many interests.

Homer Durand was a man of many talents, and he was a man of many interests. He was a lumberman, a politician, a lawyer, and a writer. He was a man of many talents, and he was a man of many interests.

Homer Durand was a man of many talents, and he was a man of many interests. He was a lumberman, a politician, a lawyer, and a writer. He was a man of many talents, and he was a man of many interests.

Homer Durand was a man of many talents, and he was a man of many interests. He was a lumberman, a politician, a lawyer, and a writer. He was a man of many talents, and he was a man of many interests.